Life at Homburg.

Life at Homburg is peculiar. First there is a conspiracy among the inhabitants to keep people there when one they get to the place. Every man you meet looks at you with tender solicitude and says: "It's a good thing you have come before it's too late. You should see the doctor at once, and he can doubtless do something for you, but don't dely an hour, for in your condition every minute is precious. The tradesmen, the hotel men, even your waiter, all join in the conspirators' chorus, till you really believe you must be sick, but you become confident of the fact after giving yourself into the doctor's hands. He looks at your tongue the whites of your eyes, feels your pulse, and declares, with a grave shake of the head, that you have come to him not a moment too soon to be saved from the dreadful fate that awaited you. Well, to make a long story short, you are bound to be sick with so many people proclaiming the fact, and you go through the treatment. You rise at 6 in the morning, and takes a drink of the waters and walk for fifteen minutes, then drink another glass and walk for half an hour, then drink another glass and walk an hour, then breakfast, and there is a strong suspicion at that meal that you are indulging in stuff left over from the dinner of the preceding day. At 11 o'clock you take a pine bath, which is prepared by stirring in a bottle of black molasses-like extracts of pine cones, which make the water look like ink. They say it makes one feel like a Scandinavian pirate and smell like a—like a—well, never mind what, but as I never knew just how a Scandinavian pirate felt I can't tell if the whole description is true or not. About 3 o'clock everybody meets on the lawn tennis grounds. It is the great drawing-room of the place. Here the princes, dukes, ambassadors and other nigh nobs are to be seen, but I noticed that the Americans were as good as anybody. Their title of American is equal to a patent of nobility. It was on the tennis grounds that Mr. Blaine was introduced to the Prince of Wales. Of course no one asks for an introduction to royalty, but royalty intimates that it would meet with such and such a person, who is forthwith sought out and presented.—Chauncy M. Depew.

He jests at scars, who never felt a wound," and a man may stand with his hands in his pockets and laugh at a poor worn rheumatic, but if he is a gentleman, he will step into the nearest apothecary shop and buy him a bottle of Salvation Oil at the small expense of only 25 cents.

Resolved, That we are in favor of both general and local nominations as the most effective means of securing and maintaining a united party organization; that the policy of supporting old party candidates for local or other considerations is disastrous, in that such support both strengthens the enemy and demoralizes or own forces; and that no person should be nominated for any office or be indorsed as a representative of the party in any relation unless such person be an openly avowed and consistent member of the prohibition party, in full accord with the foregoing declarations.

A Good Story From China.

The ship was still three days from Hong Kong, the first place at which the prisoner could be handed over to the proper authorities. To avoid a certain disturbance among the Chinamen forward the quarter-deck deliberations resulted in an announcement fore and aft the ship that the execution, with all due form and ceremony as practiced under the English flag, would take place at noon the next day, and the sentence was communicated impressively to the prisoner through an interpreter in presence of all his countrymen, who demonstrated most cordial approval.

As the hour approached next day preparations went forward solemnly round the forehatch. The butcher's block was laid amidships, the carpenter's broad ax by its side, stages for spectators rigged, the first-class passengers, numbering about a hundred, assembled on the bridges, boats, and houses near, with all the ship's people. The fore rigging and all the fore part of the deck swarmed with Chinamen eager for vengeance. At noon the ship's bell began to toll. Shortly after the prisoner was led out between two quartermasters; when near the block he was made to stand while the purser, in a surplice, read out the first verse of "The Wearing of the Green," which was then sung by 200 voices, yet, though knowing his time had come, the culprit showed no remorse or repentance. Our victim's countenance remained impassive and inscrutable as though molded in putty. The last service over, three quartermasters flung down the Chinaman on his face, his head on the center of the broad butcher's block. One man seized his cue while two held his feet, pulling with all their strength against one another. The poor wretch's neck was stretched till it went "crick." The chief officer raised the ax, flourished it round and round his head, threatening to bring it down time after time, until suspense had worked onlookers up to the pitch of agony. Suddenly down swept the broad blade, a rasp and thud; to the opposite side of the deck flew the men who had been extending the body. The ax had severed the Chinaman's tail an inch from his head. A prolonged, disgusted exclamation of 'Hi-i-i-i" went up from the crowd forward, expressing supreme contempt for the skill of our executioner and our national manner of performing, which even the prisoner seemed to share, for the sneer with which he regained his feet was the first indication of interest he had displayed. In the confusion following the prisoner was led back to confinement. Not much difficulty was experienced in convincing the others that, by English law, two attempts to execute the same man could not be made on the same day.

So convinced of the bona fide character of the exhibition had they been that they gave no more trouble, and ultimately—taking into consideration that the loss of the tail is so much more calamitous than the loss of the head—they consented to the man's being given over to the law in Hong Kong, where he was dealt with in a way less preferable than death to him, being compelled to live a convict without a tail.—J. Keane's "Mere Shakings."

B. A. K. HACKETT, Editor and Proprietor.

THURSDAY, JAN. 5, 1888.

This is presidential year and it begins to dawn on us very early.

The Staats Zietung is urging the nomination of Mr. J. H. Bass for congress in this district. The democratic party will cheerfully confer on Mr. Bass any gift within its control, but it is doubtful if he would accept political honors while occupying so prominent a place in the industrial world.

The government had last year a surplus revenue of $113,000,000. It will have this year a surplus of $140,000,000. This revenue is produced by a tariff. A tariff is a tax. The surplus revenue is therefore produced by a surplus tax or a tariff in excess of the government needs, a tax in excess of requirements for protection to American industries. To stop the surplus revenue we must abolish the surplus taxes.

In all this bother about the surplus, let it not be forgotten that the blunder—for it was all that and the more—of so refunding the national debt that $250,000,000 of 4½ per cent. bonds will not be due until 1891, and $739,000,000 of 4 per cent. bonds will not be due until 1907, was solely the fault of John Sherman, who is a candidate for president on the ground that he is a great financier.

The young democracy of Indiana will meet in convention at Indianapolis Wednesday next. The arrangements for the meeting are being made by committees appointed by the Hendricks club. A plan for the state organization of the democracy will be submitted at at the meeting. It is proposed to organize clubs in every county and district—the whole to constitute the Hendricks legion. The chairman of each club is to be, by virtue of his office, a member of the next higher body, and so the entire organization, it is hoped, will be unified. The purposes and plans are largely patterned after those which controlled the republicans in forming the Lincoln league.

A refusal to confirm Lamar, the New York Herald thinks, might operate a repetition of history, as in the case where a refusal to confirm Van Buren to a foreign appointment led to his nomination for the vice-presidency and thus opened to him the way to the white house. By the way, the recent republican conference in this state charged against Lamar that he refused to declare the thirteenth, fourteenth and fifteenth amendments valid and binding. As a matter of fact, Mr. Lamar said in the lower house of congress:

In a word, they (the southern people) regard the new amendments of the constitution, which secure to the black race freedom, citizenship and suffrage, to be not less sacred and inviolable than the original charter as it came from the hands of the fathers.

In the senate also, Mr. Lamar voted for the following resolution which sprang out of a political debate, and which resolution, the Indianapolis News says, Senator Edmunds voted against:

Resolved, as the judgment of the senate, That the thirteenth, fourteenth and fifteenth amendments to the consitution of the United States are as valid and binding as any part of the constitution; that the people of the United States have a common interest in the enforcement of the whole constitution in every state and in the territories of the United States, and that it is alike the right and duty of the United States, so far as the power has been delegated to them, to enforce said amendments and to protect every citizen in the exercise of all the rights thereby secured.

It would seem, in all honesty, that Mr. Lamar is not as bad as the over zealous republican partisans paint him.

Do you have dyspeptic troubles? Take Hood's Sarsaparilla, which has relieved thousands and will cure you. Sold by druggists.

I give honor to whom it is due. Dr. David Kennedy's favorite remedy cured me of Bright's disease and Gravel. Four of the best physicians had failed to relieve me. I have recommended it to scores of people with like success, and know it will cure all who try it.—Mrs. E. P. Mizner, Burg Hill, O. Send 2c. stamp to Dr. Kennedy, Rondout, N. Y., for book how to cure Kidney, Liver and Blood Disorders. Mention this paper.

We have sold Ely's Cream Balm about three years, and have recommended its use in more than a hundred special cases of catarrh. The unanimous answer to our inquiries is, "It's the best remedy that I have ever used." Our experience is, that where parties continued its use, it never failed to cure.—J. H. Montgomery & Co., Druggists, Decorah, Iowa.

I have used Ely's Cream Balm for dry catarrh (to which eastern persons are subject who come to live here). It has proved a cure.—B. F. M. Weeks, Denver, Col.

Special Notice.

After January 1st, 1888, (D. V.) I will devote my attention exclusively to diseases of women and diseases of the kidneys. All who are indebted to me will please call and settle.

A GREAT DAY IN THE SENATE.

In the United States senate yesterday Mr. Sherman criticised President Cleveland's plea for a reduction of tariff taxation. Mr. Voorhees replied to the senator from Ohio in defense of the president's policy, and both gentlemen made master arguments, as far as one can judge from the imperfect reports of their speeches at hand at this writing. Senator Sherman will always command a hearing. His prominence as a republican presidential candidate and his experience in public life alone give much weight to his words, but his present position is indeed a remarkable one. His own party has declared, in its national platforms, in favor of a modification of tariff taxes and a reduction of the surplus revenues of the nation. He now, by strange tactics, places Mr. Cleveland in the light of a free trade advocate and then with an air of alarm, comes to the rescue of the industries of the country and the men employed in them. Unfortunately for Mr. Sherman, his tactics are exposed to ridicule and his logic stamped as faulty, because mighty as he is, it will never be his good fortune to convince intelligent people that excessive taxes will make them rich, or that an unnecessary surplus in the federal treasury will add comfort to their homes.

Senator Voorhees very happily placed President Cleveland in an honest position and then with all his eloquence supported the position of the chief executive, administering at the same time a scathing rebuke to the gentlemen who seek to misrepresent his purpose in order to add strength to their own arguments,

Mr. Voorhees admirably pictured the burdens of the toilers. He portrayed the constant battles of the wage workers for honest wages under dishonest tariff laws. He related how every article of use was taxed and over valued under circumstances always prejudicial to the purchaser, and with all the force of mind he placed President Cleveland before the world as the true, real and honest friend of the American people.

It seems to be the general opinion among friends that the deadly views of Herr Most played no small part in determining the career of August Spies, says the New York World. In the career of August Spies in this country the figure of Johann Most, evil and forbidding, looms like a malignant spirit in the background. To Herr Most belongs the responsibility of having introduced anarchy into the United States. He originated the International, and to him Spies and a great many other enthusiastic young men who were inoculated with anarchy's deadly virus owe their misfortune. When Spies visited New York in 1883 Most had just arrived from an English prison, where he had been confined for nearly a year and a half for an article in the Freiheit applauding the assassination of the Czar. He was cordially received by the socialists, who had become dissatisfied with their leaders and their old organ, the Volks Zeitung. Most was at once proclaimed leader. As the editors of the Chicago Arbeiter-Zeitung, Grottkau and Speis, were also on the war-path, Most communicated with them with a view to forming coalition. Up to that time anarchy was unknown on this continent except as an expression. Spies and all other Chicago socialists held moderate views. The first meeting between Most and Spies took place in a socialist's resort on Fourth street, New York, then kept by one Voitschek. There Most's first tour of agitation through the United States was fully arranged and a plan of the International laid out, the success of which was pledged with a liberal amount of beer.

Two bad sons of Farmer Peck, who lives on the Upper Hornet Creek, Idaho, went hunting on a recent Sunday. They found a bear cub and shot it. Then they came upon a full-grown cinnamon bear, and fired at and missed it. The bear started for the boys, and the oldest, aged 16, stood his ground and, with a second shot, broke bruin's leg. The animal didn't stop. The boy clubbed his gun and tried to strike the bear, which knocked the gun from his hands and caught his arm in his mouth. Then the younger boy, aged 12, ran up, and, putting his gun to the bear's head, blew out his brains and saved his brother's life.

SCRATCHED 28 YEARS.

A Scaly, Itching Skin Disease with Endless Suffering Cured by Cuticura Remedies.

If I had known of the Cuticura Remedies twenty-eight years ago it would have saved me $200.00 (two hundred dollars) and an immense amount of suffering. My disease (Psoriasis) commenced on my head in a spot not larger than a cent. It spread rapidly all over my body and got under my nails. The scales would drop off of me all the time, and my suffering was endless, and without relief. One thousand dollars would not tempt me to have this disease over again. I am a poor man, but feel rich to be relieved of what some of the doctors said was leprosy, sometimes worm, psoriasis, etc., I took . . . and . . . Sarsaparillas over one year and a half, but no cure. I went to two or three doctors and no cure. I cannot praise the Cuticura Remedies too much. They have made by skin as clear and free from scales as a baby's. All I used of them was three boxes of Cuticura, and three bottles of Cuticura Resolvent, and two cakes of Cuticura Soap. If you had been here and said you would have cured me for $200.00 you would have had the money. I looked like the picture in your book of Psoriasis (picture number two "How to Cure Skin Diseases"), but now I am as clear as any person ever was. Through force of habit I rub my hands over my arms and legs to scratch once in a while but to no purpose, I am all well. I scratched twenty-eight years, and it got to be a kind of second nature to me. I thank you a thousand times. Anything more that you want to know write me, or any one who reads this may write to me and I will answer it.

Catarrhal Dangers.

To be freed from the dangers of suffocation while lying down; to breathe freely, sleep soundly and undisturbed; to rise refreshed, head clear, brain active and free from pain or ache; to know that no poisonous, putrid matter defiles the breath and rots away the delicate machinery of smell, taste and hearing; to feel that the system does not, through its veins and arteries, suck up the poison that is sure to undermine and destroy, is indeed a blessing beyond all other human enjoyments. To purchase immunity from such a fate should be the object of all afflicted. But those who have tried many remedies and physicians despair of relief or cure.

Sanford's Radical Cure meets every phrase of Cattarh, from a simple head cold to the most loathsome and destructive stages. It is local and constitutional. Instant in relieving permanent in curing, safe, economical and never-failing.

That's So

Relief is certain for the despondent feelings of the dyspeptic, the constipated habit of the sedentary, the headaches of the nervous and bilious, by the simple use of Simmons Liver Regulator,—easy to take, not nauseating or disgusting, not more bitter than a glass of beer and far more grateful. It is no intoxicating beverage, but it tones up the system, settles the stomach, assists digestion, regulates the bowels, and stimulates the Liver. Take it once and and you will discard all other medicines.

"I have used many remedies for Dyspepsia, Liver Affection and Debility, but never have found anything to benefit me to the extent that Simmons Liver Regulator has. I would advise all who are similarly affected to give it a trial as it seems the only thing that never fails to relieve."—P. M. JANNEY, Minneapolis, Minn.

The certainty with which this remedy acts has astonished the Medical Profession and secured for itself unbounded praise. Its virtues consist in being so gentle a cathartic, tonic and alterative, that in its operation it does not interrupt the usual duties of life, but acts so naturally that the system is not upset or afterwards constipated. It attacks all bilious disorders and sluggishness of the Liver; is harmless, and can be taken at any time without fear of injury.

"I have been a user of Simmons Liver Regulator for years, having made it my only family medicine. It is a sure, good and reliable medicine. My mother before me was very partial to it."—Rev. JAS. M. ROLLINS, Pastor M. E. Church, Fairfield, Va.

$500 REWARD

is offered by the manufacturers of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, for a case of Chronic Nasal Catarrh which they cannot cure.

SYMPTOMS OF CATARRH.—Dull, heavy headache, obstruction of the nasal passages, discharges falling from the head into the throat, sometimes profuse, watery, and acrid, at others, thick, tenacious, mucous, purulent, bloody and putrid; the eyes are weak, watering, and inflamed; there is ringing in the ears, deafness, hacking or coughing to clear the throat, expectoration of offensive matter, together with scabs from ulcers; the voice is changed and has a nasal twang; the breath is offensive; smell and taste are impaired; there is a sensation of dizziness, with mental depression, a hacking cough and general debility. Only a few of the above-named symptoms are likely to be present in any one case. Thousands of cases annually, without manifesting half of the above symptoms, result in consumption, and end in the grave. No disease is so common, more deceptive and dangerous, or less understood by physicians.

By its mild, soothing and healing properties, Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy cures the worst cases of Catarrh, "cold in the head," Coryza, and Catarrhal Headache.

Sold by druggists everywhere; 50 cents.

"Untold Agony from Catarrh."

Prof. W. HAUSNER, the famous mesmerist, of Ithaca, N. Y., writes: "Some ten years ago I suffered untold agony from chronic nasal catarrh. My family physician gave me up as incurable and said I must die. My case was such a bad one, that every day, towards sunset, my voice would become so hoarse I could barely speak above a whisper. In the morning my coughing and clearing of my throat would almost strangle me. By the use of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, in three months, I was a well man, and the cure has been permanent."

"Constantly Hawking and Spitting."

THOMAS J. RUSHING, Esq., 2902 Pine Street, St. Louis, Mo., writes: "I was a great sufferer from catarrh for three years. At times I could hardly breathe, and was constantly hawking and spitting, and for the last eight months could not breathe through the nostrils. I thought nothing could be done for me. Luckily, I was advised to try Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, and I am now a well man. I believe it to be the only sure remedy for catarrh now manufactured, and one has only to give it a fair trial to experience astounding results and a permanent cure."

Three Bottles Cure Catarrh.

ELI ROBBINS, Runyan P. O., Columbia Co., Pa., says: "My daughter had catarrh when she was five years old, very badly. I saw Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy advertised, and procured a bottle for her, and soon saw that it helped her; a third bottle effected a permanent cure. She is now eighteen years old and sound and hearty."

THERE'S MANY A SLIP

Of Gossip the Pencil Pusher Fails to Get in His Effort to Catch It All.

Railroad travel is light.

There will be several pay days next week.

W. A. Davis, formerly an engineer on the Pittsburg road, has gone to Alaska.

There are ninety-four men employed in the boiler shops of the Pittsburg works.

Charles Siebold, of the organ factory, is seriously ill at his home on DeWald street.

The Wabash is repairing its tracks in front of the shops of Rhinesmith & Simonson's.

The employes of the organ factory have gone to work again after having enjoyed a vacation for a week.

Charles Hassler, a fireman on the Grand Rapids road, is detained from duty on account of a sprained ankle.

A large number of employes of the different manufacturing establishments of the city attended the K. of L. ball last night.

The Edison electric light will be put in all the departments of the Pittsburg shops. The Ball light did not give satisfaction.

Warren Eagle, one of the members of Nickel Plate bridge gang, cut a deep gash in his leg with an ax a day or two ago and is kept from duty in consequence of it.

The coal traffic on the railroads passing through this city is not as large as it was a few weeks ago. The blockade in Pennsylvania has affected the business in coal all over the country.

Louis Williams, general superintendent of the Nickel Plate railroad, passed through yesterday on his way to Chicago. He was accompanied to that city by Superintendent C. D. Gorham.

The engine wrecked at Wannatah, on the Pittsburg road, on last Saturday night, was received at the Pittsburg shops yesterday and will undergo a general overhauling. It was pretty badly wrecked.

Julius Kaough, who died last night, was one of the most popular machinists in the Pittsburg works and in our rounds among the employes this morning there was many a word of sorrow at his death expressed.

The Lake Shore and Michigan Southern railway company, inaugurated the duplex system of cash fare payment on its entire passenger train service, January 1. The heads of several of the oldest passenger conductors on the road dropped into the basket quite recently.

Harry Clay, one of the oldest employes of the Bass foundry moulding rooms, is lying very low at his home on Hanna street street, with inflammation of the lungs. He has been in the employe of the works for the last twenty years and has a large number of friends who are solicitous concerning his condition.

A wreck occurred on the Pittsburg road last night at Washington, a station 100 miles east of this city. Two gondola cars were derailed and considerably damaged, but no one was injured. The wreck blockaded the track and delayed all the trains for several hours. Passenger No. 3, going west, was seven hours late and did not get into this city until 8 o'clock and other west-bound passenger trains were also late.

General Manager McCrea, of the Pennsylvania lines, has issued his orders as to what is to be done this year in adding equipments to the lines. One hundred and nine new loccomotives are to be built, fifty-four for the southwestern lines, which includes those centering at Indianapolis, and fifty-five for the northwest lines. Those for the southwestern lines consists of fourteen class "O," thirteen class "M" and twenty-five class "S." Class "S" is the consolidated standard freight engine.

Some of the railroads of the country refuse to allow newspaper reporters to enter their offices, and what news they get from them has to come through the ticket window entirely and from a gruff official who feels the dignity and importance of his position. We are glad to say this is not the fact with the railroads centering in this city. The passenger agents of our railroads are gentlemen, who are courteous to the public generally, and they are always willing to grant favors when it is in their power to do so.

A tramp was discovered in the core shops of the Bass foundry last night, with a large bundle of freshly washed clothing, which he had evidently stolen from somebody's yard. The boys tackled the fellow and began to question him concerning where he had obtained the clothing. He gave all sorts of explanations, and when they talked about calling in the police to investigate the affair, the fellow lit out in a hurry. The bundle contained a quantity of linen and child's clothing, and if some person's yard was robbed of such articles as these last night, they can obtain further information from Diedrich Brandt, the foreman of the coremakers at the Bass foundry.

One Fact

Is worth a column of rhetoric, said an American statesman. It is a fact, established by the testimony of thousands of people, that Hood's Sarsaparilla does cure scrofula, salt rheum and other diseases or affections arising from impure state or low condition of the blood. It also overcomes that tired feeling, creates a good appetite, and gives strength to every part of the system. Try it.

Wholesale Slaughter of Deer.

Idaho newspapers are calling attention to the fact that the Lemhi Indians are slaughtering deer by wholesale, just for their hides. They form a circle covering miles of country and drive the deer toward a common center, generally a deep ravine, and do their work so thoroughly that almost every animal started within the outer circle is killed. The authorities are asked to put a stop to this slaughter.—Chicago News.

"VOLTAIRE."

A Masterly and Eloquent Address by the Very Rev. T. E. Walsh, President of Notre Dame University.

There was a very fair audience at Library hall last night to listen to the address of President T. E. Walsh, of Notre Dame university, on "Voltaire," the French infidel.

Chancellor J. F. Lang introduced the speaker in a very graceful way and with a word about the futile attempt to honor "Voltaire" with a centennial celebration, he handled his subject with a will.

Francois-Marie Arouet, which was Voltaire's true name, but which he changed in after life because it was too plebian, was born at Chatenoy on the 20th of February 1694. His father was a notary and afterwards treasurer of the chamber of areonuts, and his mother was of a noble family of Poiton. He was sent at an early age to the Jesuit college of Louis le Grand, in Paris, and even in his college days manifested a spirit of irreligion and disobedience to authority which made one of his professors predict that he would one day become an infidel. Another of his teachers remarked of him that he was a "bright boy, but a notable blackguard."

After leaving college he embraced, at his father's request, the profession of law, but soon quitted it for the more congenial career of literature. Through the influence of Ninon de L'Enclor, one of the most noted women of her day, he was introduced to the best and most polished society of Paris. It was in the wicked, gay and witty circles in which he then moved that he formed those ideas which made him afterwards the sensualist, skeptic and debased writer which he was. His father becoming alarmed at the extravagances and dissolute life of his son had him sent to Holland in an official capacity, but his excesses and intrigues there resulted in his recall very shortly after.

Being suspected of having written a very bitter and satirical poem on Louis XIV, who had just died, he was sentenced to imprisonment in the Bastile, May 17, 1717, where he remained for more than a year. It was during his imprisonment that he wrote his most celebrated poems, the "Henriade and Œdipus." In 1726 he was banished from his country because of an insult to the Count de Rohan, and he went to England, and it was during his stay there that he imbibed those doctrines which made him distinguished afterwards as an arch infidel and skeptic. It was in the society of Lord Bolingbroke, Collins, Wollostin and others that his mind became so thoroughly imbued with atheistic and infidel doctrines. After spending several years in England he again returned to Paris, and through the friendship of Madame du Chatelet was soon the center of an admiring and gay circle of friends After many years spent in France, devoted to his voluminous writings and correspondence, he retired in 1758 to Ferney in Switzerland, where he spent the last twenty years of his life. In 1778 he made his last visit to Paris and was received with the greatest enthusiasm by the people and princes. He died the same year and his last moments were filled with agony, despair and horrible execrations against God, whom he had so persistently mocked, ridiculed and defiled during his long life. After reviewing the life of Voltaire the lecturer proceeded to consider his claims as a man. As a writer, that which dazzles has been called the universality of his genius, He was unusually strong in almost every style of composition, and yet serious defects are to be found in nearly all his writings. He had no skill in building up. His art was destruction. As an epic poet he is not the equal of Homer, Dante or Milton, but he is more nearly so than any other French writer. As a dramatic writer he was successful, and yet, strangely, he could never appreciate Shakespeare. He could not understand why Addison's "Cato" should not have ranked higher in England than anything that Shakespeare wrote. As a writer of comedy and lyric poetry he was an entire failure. He was the most remarkable prose writer of his age both as to quantity and quality. There is no French prose like his. In his private life he was violent and vindictive—a perjurer and a hypocrite. He was without morality, patriotism or religion. Repeatedly he swore before God, that he was not the author of works that had come from his pen. He was a man of astonishing quickness, versatility and talent. He might, under some circumstance be generous. But his filthy sensuality, his profligacy and his unreasoning hatred of everything that can be considered sacred, will ever render him odious to intelligent men. It is not probable that his influence over his contemporaries was as great as has been supposed by some. It is not given to any man to mold his fellowmen as potter's clay. There are always surrounding circumstances that push or restrict the labors of men. There is no great reform—no revolution—that can be conceived as occuring before the time when the world was prepared for it by the providential or foreordained events that preceded and surrounded them.

No home should be without it to arrest disorders prompily, which, if not taken in season often develop into serious diseases. Rev. James M. Rollins, pastor M. E. church, S., Fairfield, Va., writes: "I have used Simmons Liver Regulator for many years, having made it my only family medicine. My mother before me was very partial to it. It is a safe, good and reliable medicine for any disorder of the system and if used in time is a great preventive of sickness."

The Babies Cry for It

And the old folks laugh when they find that the pleasant California liquid fruit remedy, Syrup of Figs, is more easily taken and more beneficial in its action than bitter, nauseous medicines. It strengthens the liver, kidneys, stomach, and bowels, while it arouses them to a healthy activity. For sale by Thieme & Gross.

a man for groaning when he has Rheumatism or Neuralgia. The pain is simply awful. No torture in the ancient times was more painful than these twin diseases. But—oughtn't a man to be blamed if, having Rheumatism or Neuralgia, he wont use Ath-lo-pho-ros, when it has cured thousands who have suffered in the same way. It has cured hundreds after physicians have pronounced them incurable.

"The skill of five physicians could not cure me of Rheumatism which had settled in the hips, neck and shoulders. So intense was the pain that sleep was almost impossible. The first dose of Athlophoros gave me relief, and the third enabled me to sleep for four and a half hours without waking. I continued its use, and am now well. REV. S. H. TROYER, New Albany, Ind."

Life at Homburg.

Life at Homburg is peculiar. First there is a conspiracy among the inhabitants to keep people there when one they get to the place. Every man you meet looks at you with tender solicitude and says: "It's a good thing you have come before it's too late. You should see the doctor at once, and he can doubtless do something for you, but don't dely an hour, for in your condition every minute is precious. The tradesmen, the hotel men, even your waiter, all join in the conspirators' chorus, till you really believe you must be sick, but you become confident of the fact after giving yourself into the doctor's hands. He looks at your tongue the whites of your eyes, feels your pulse, and declares, with a grave shake of the head, that you have come to him not a moment too soon to be saved from the dreadful fate that awaited you. Well, to make a long story short, you are bound to be sick with so many people proclaiming the fact, and you go through the treatment. You rise at 6 in the morning, and takes a drink of the waters and walk for fifteen minutes, then drink another glass and walk for half an hour, then drink another glass and walk an hour, then breakfast, and there is a strong suspicion at that meal that you are indulging in stuff left over from the dinner of the preceding day. At 11 o'clock you take a pine bath, which is prepared by stirring in a bottle of black molasses-like extracts of pine cones, which make the water look like ink. They say it makes one feel like a Scandinavian pirate and smell like a—like a—well, never mind what, but as I never knew just how a Scandinavian pirate felt I can't tell if the whole description is true or not. About 3 o'clock everybody meets on the lawn tennis grounds. It is the great drawing-room of the place. Here the princes, dukes, ambassadors and other high nobs are to be seen, but I noticed that the Americans were as good as anybody. Their title of American is equal to a patent of nobility. It was on the tennis grounds that Mr. Blaine was introduced to the Prince of Wales. Of course no one asks for an introduction to royalty, but royalty intimates that it would meet with such and such a person, who is forthwith sought out and presented.—Chauncy M. Depew.

He jests at scars, who never felt a wound," and a man may stand with his hands in his pockets and laugh at a poor worn rheumatic, but if he is a gentleman, he will step into the nearest apothecary shop and buy him a bottle of Salvation Oil at the small expense of only 25 cents.

The above is the title of a piece to be produced at the Academy, on Saturday night.

The Wheeling, Va., Register says: "A large house greeted Moore & Vivian's company at the Academy of Music last night, in the comedy drama, "Our Jonathan." A Good Story From China.

The ship was still three days from Hong Kong, the first place at which the prisoner could be handed over to the proper authorities. To avoid a certain disturbance among the Chinamen forward the quarter-deck deliberations resulted in an announcement fore and aft the ship that the execution, with all due form and ceremony as practiced under the English flag, would take place at noon the next day, and the sentence was communicated impressively to the prisoner through an interpreter in presence of all his countrymen, who demonstrated most cordial approval.

As the hour approached next day preparations went forward solemnly round the forehatch. The butcher's block was laid amidships, the carpenter's broad ax by its side, stages for spectators rigged, the first-class passengers, numbering about a hundred, assembled on the bridges, boats, and houses near, with all the ship's people. The fore rigging and all the fore part of the deck swarmed with Chinamen eager for vengeance. At noon the ship's bell began to toll. Shortly after the prisoner was led out between two quartermasters; when near the block he was made to stand while the purser, in a surplice, read out the first verse of "The Wearing of the Green," which was then sung by 200 voices, yet, though knowing his time had come, the culprit showed no remorse or repentance. Our victim's countenance remained impassive and inscrutable as though molded in putty. The last service over, three quartermasters flung down the Chinaman on his face, his head on the center of the broad butcher's block. One man seized his cue while two held his feet, pulling with all their strength against one another. The poor wretch's neck was stretched till it went "crick." The chief officer raised the ax, flourished it round and round his head, threatening to bring it down time after time, until suspense had worked onlookers up to the pitch of agony. Suddenly down swept the broad blade, a rasp and thud; to the opposite side of the deck flew the man who had been extending the body. The ax had severed the Chinaman's tail an inch from his head. A prolonged, disgusted exclamation of "Hi-i-i" went up from the crowd forward, expressing supreme contempt for the skill of our executioner and our national manner of performing, which even the prisoner seemed to share, for the sneer with which he regained his feet was the first indication of interest he had displayed. In the confusion following the prisoner was led back to confinement. Not much difficulty was experienced in convincing the others that, by English law, two attempts to execute the same man could not be made on the same day.

So convinced of the iona fide character of the exhibition had they been that they gave no more trouble, and ultimately, taking into consideration that the loss of the tail is so much more calamitous than the loss of the head—they consented to the man's being given over to the law in Hong Kong, where he was dealt with in a way less preferable than death to him, being compelled to live a convict without a tail.—J. Keane's "More Shakings."

E. A. K. HACKETT, Editor and Proprietor.

THURSDAY, JAN. 5, 1888.

THIS is presidential year and it begins to dawn on us very early.

THE Staats Zietung is urging the nomination of Mr. J. H. Bass for congress in this district. The democratic party will cheerfully confer on Mr. Bass any gift within its control, but it is doubtful if he would accept political honors while occupying so prominent a place in the industrial world.

THE government had last year a surplus revenue of $113,000,000. It will have this year a surplus of $140,000,000. This revenue is produced by a tariff. A tariff is a tax. The surplus revenue is therefore produced by a surplus tax or a tariff in excess of the government needs, a tax in excess of requirements for protection to American industries. To stop the surplus revenue we must abolish the surplus taxes.

IN ALL this bother about the surplus, let it not be forgotten that the blunder—for it was all that and the more—of so refunding the national debt that $250,000,000 of 4½ per cent. bonds will not be due until 1891, and $739,000,000 of 4 per cent. bonds will not be due until 1907, was solely the fault of John Sherman, who is a candidate for president on the ground that he is a great financier.

THE young democracy of Indiana will meet in convention at Indianapolis Wednesday next. The arrangements for the meeting are being made by committees appointed by the Hendricks club. A plan for the state organization of the democracy will be submitted at at the meeting. It is proposed to organize clubs in every county and district—the whole to constitute the Hendricks legion. The chairman of each club is to be, by virtue of his office, a member of the next higher body, and so the entire organization, it is hoped, will be unified. The purposes and plans are largely patterned after those which controlled the republicans in forming the Lincoln league.

A REFUSAL to confirm Lamar, the New York Herald thinks, might operate a repetition of history, as in the case where a refusal to confirm Van Buren to a foreign appointment led to his nomination for the vice-presidency and thus opened to him the way to the white house. By the way, the recent republican conference in this state charged against Lamar that he refused to declare the thirteenth, fourteenth and fifteenth amendments valid and binding. As a matter of fact, Mr. Lamar said in the lower house of congress:

In a word, they (the southern people) regard the new amendments of the constitution, which secure to the black race freedom, citizenship and suffrage, to be not less sacred and inviolable than the original charter as it came from the hands of the fathers.

In the senate also, Mr. Lamar voted for the following resolution which sprang out of a political debate, and which resolution, the Indianapolis News says, Senator Edmunds voted against:

Resolved, as the judgment of the senate, That the thirteenth, fourteenth and fifteenth amendments to the constitution of the United States are as valid and binding as any part of the constitution; that the people of the United States have a common interest in the enforcement of the whole constitution in every state and in the territories of the United States, and that it is alike the right and duty of the United States, so far as the power has been delegated to them, to enforce said amendments and to protect every citizen in the exercise of all the rights thereby secured.

It would seem, in all honesty, that Mr. Lamar is not as bad as the over zealous republican partisans paint him.

Do you have dyspeptic troubles? Take Hood's Sarsaparilla, which has relieved thousands and will cure you. Sold by druggists.

I give honor to whom it is due. Dr. David Kennedy's favorite remedy cured me of Bright's disease and Gravel. Four of the best physicians had failed to relieve me. I have recommended it to scores of people with like success, and know it will cure all who try it.—Mrs. E. P. Mizner, Burg Hill, O. Send 2c. stamp to Dr. Kennedy, Rondout, N. Y., for book how to cure Kidney, Liver and Blood Disorders. Mention this paper.

We have sold Ely's Cream Balm about three years, and have recommended its use in more than a hundred special cases of catarrh. The unanimous answer to our inquiries is, "It's the best remedy that I have ever used." Our experience is, that where parties continued its use, it never failed to cure.—J. H. Montgomery & Co., Druggists, Decorah, Iowa.

I have used Ely'y Cream Balm for dry catarrh (to which eastern persons are subject who come to live here). It has proved a cure.—R. F. M. Weeks, Denver, Col.

Special Notice.

After January 1st, 1888, (D. V.) I will devote my attention exclusively to diseases of women and diseases of the kidneys. All who are indebted to me will please call and settle.

A GREAT DAY IN THE SENATE.

In the United States senate yesterday Mr. Sherman criticised President Cleveland's plea for a reduction of tariff taxation. Mr. Voorhees replied to the senator from Ohio in defense of the president's policy, and both gentlemen made master arguments, as far as one can judge from the imperfect reports of their speeches at hand at this writing. Senator Sherman will always command a hearing. His prominence as a republican presidential candidate and his experience in public life alone give much weight to his words, but his present position is indeed a remarkable one. His own party has declared, in its national platforms, in favor of a modification of tariff taxes and a reduction of the surplus revenue of the nation. He now, by strange tactics, places Mr. Cleveland in the light of a free trade advocate and then with an air of alarm, comes to the rescue of the industries of the country and the men employed in them. Unfortunately for Mr. Sherman, his tactics are exposed to ridicule and his logic stamped as faulty, because mighty as he is, it will never be his good fortune to convince intelligent people that excessive taxes will make them rich, or that an unnecessary surplus in the federal treasury will add comfort to their homes.

Senator Voorhees very happily placed President Cleveland in an honest position and then with all his eloquence supported the position of the chief executive, administering at the same time a scathing rebuke to the gentlemen who seek to misrepresent his purpose in order to add strength to their own arguments.

Mr. Voorhees admirably pictured the burdens of the toilers. He portrayed the constant battles of the wage workers for honest wages under dishonest tariff laws. He related how every article of use was taxed and over valued under circumstances always prejudicial to the purchaser, and with all the force of mind he placed President Cleveland before the world as the true, real and honest friend of the American people.

IT seems to be the general opinion among friends that the deadly views of Herr Most played no small part in determining the career of August Spies, says the New York World. In the career of August Spies in this country the figure of Johann Most, evil and forbidding, looms like a malignant spirit in the background. To Herr Most belongs the responsibility of having introduced anarchy into the United States. He originated the International, and to him Spies and a great many other enthusiastic young men who were inoculated with anarchy's deadly virus owe their misfortune. When Spies visited New York in 1883 Most had just arrived from an English prison, where he had been confined for nearly a year and a half for an article in the Freiheit applauding the assassination of the Czar. He was cordially received by the socialists, who had become dissatisfied with their leaders and their old organ, the Volks Zeitung. Most was at once proclaimed leader. As the editors of the Chicago Arbeiter-Zeitung, Grottkau and Speis, were also on the war-path, Most communicated with them with a view to forming coalition. Up to that time anarchy was unknown on this continent except as an expression. Spies and all other Chicago socialists held moderate views. The first meeting between Most and Spies took place in a socialist's resort on Fourth street, New York, then kept by one Voitschek. There Most's first tour of agitation through the United States was fully arranged and a plan of the International laid out, the success of which was pledged with a liberal amount of beer.

TWO BAD sons of Farmer Peck, who lives on the Upper Hornet Creek, Idaho, went hunting on a recent Sunday. They found a bear cub and shot it. Then they came upon a full-grown cinnamon bear, and fired at and missed it. The bear started for the boys, and the oldest, aged 16, stood his ground and, with a second shot, broke bruin's leg. The animal didn't stop. The boy clubbed his gun and tried to strike the bear, which knocked the gun from his hands and caught his arm in his mouth. Then the younger boy, aged 12, ran up, and, putting his gun to the bear's head, blew out his brains and saved his brother's life.

SCRATCHED 28 YEARS.

A Scaly, Itching Skin Disease with Endless Suffering Cured by Cuticura Remedies.

If I had known of the Cuticura Remedies twenty-eight years ago it would have saved me $200.00 (two hundred dollars) and an immense amount of suffering. My disease (Psoriasis) commenced on my head in a spot not larger than a cent. It spread rapidly all over my body and got under my nails. The scales would drop off of me all the time, and my suffering was endless, and without relief. One thousand dollars would not tempt me to have this disease over again. I am a poor man, but feel rich to be relieved of what some of the doctors said was leprosy, some ring worm, psorias s, etc., I took .... and .... Sarsaparillas over one year and a half, but no cure. I went to two or three doctors and no cure. I cannot praise the Cuticura Remedies too much. They have made my skin as clear and free from scales as a baby's. All I used of them was three boxes of Cuticura, and three bottles of Cuticura Resolvent, and two cakes of Cuticura Soap. If you had been here and said you would have cured me for $200.00, you would have had the money. I looked like the picture in your book of Psoriasis (picture number two "How to Cure Skin Diseases"), but now I am as clear as any person ever was. Through force of habit I rub my hands over my arms and legs to scratch once in a while but to no purpose. I am all well. I scratched twenty-eight years, and it got to be a kind of second nature to me. I thank you a thousand times. Anything more that you want to know write me, or any one who reads this may write to me and I will answer it.

Catarrhal Dangers.

To be freed from the dangers of suffocation while lying down; to breathe freely, sleep soundly and undisturbed; to rise refreshed, head clear, brain active and free from pain or ache; to know that no poisonous, putrid matter defiles the breath and rots away the delicate machinery of smell, taste and hearing; to feel that the system does not, through its veins and arteries, suck up the poison that is sure to undermine and destroy, is indeed a blessing beyond all other human enjoyments. To purchase immunity from such a fate should be the object of all afflicted. But those who have tried many remedies and physicians despair of relief or cure.

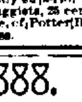

Sanford's Radical Cure meets every phrase of Catarrh, from a simple head cold to the most loathsome and destructive stages. It is local and constitutional. Instant in relieving permanent in curing, safe, economical and never-failing.

Sanford's Radical Cure consists of one bottle of the Radical Cure, one box of Catarrhal Solvent, and one Improved Inhaler, all wrapped in one package, with treatise and directions, and sold by all druggists for $1.00.

That's So

Relief is certain for the despondent feelings of the dyspeptic, the constipated habit of the sedentary, the headaches of the nervous and bilious, by the simple use of Simmons Liver Regulator,—easy to take, not nauseating or disgusting, not more bitter than a glass of beer and far more grateful. It is no intoxicating beverage, but it tones up the system, settles the stomach, assists digestion, regulates the bowels, and stimulates the Liver. Take it once and and you will discard all other medicines.

"I have used many remedies for Dyspepsia, Liver Affection and Debility, but never have found anything to benefit me to the extent that Simmons Liver Regulator has. I would advise all who are similarly affected to give it a trial as it seems the only thing that never fails to relieve."—F. M. JANNEY, Minneapolis, Minn.

The certainty with which this remedy acts has astonished the Medical Profession and secured for itself unbounded praise. Its virtues consist in being so gentle a cathartic, tonic and alterative, that in its operation it does not interrupt the usual duties of life, but acts so naturally that the system is not upset or afterwards constipated. It attacks all bilious disorders and sluggishness of the Liver; is harmless, and can be taken at any time without fear of injury.

"I have been a user of Simmons Liver Regulator for years, having made it my only family medicine. It is a sure, good and reliable medicine. My mother before me was very partial to it."—Rev. Jas. M. ROLLINS, Pastor M. E. Church, Fairfield, Va.

$500 REWARD

is offered by the manufacturers of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, for a case of Chronic Nasal Catarrh which they cannot cure.

SYMPTOMS OF CATARRH.—Dull, heavy headache, obstruction of the nasal passages, discharges falling from the head into the throat, sometimes profuse, watery, and acrid, at others thick, tenacious, mucous, purulent, bloody and putrid; the eyes are weak, watery, and inflamed; there is ringing in the ears, deafness, hacking or coughing to clear the throat, expectoration of offensive matter, together with scabs from ulcers; the voice is changed and has a nasal tone; the breath is offensive; smell and taste are impaired; there is a sensation of dizziness, with mental depression, a hacking cough and general debility. Only a few of the above-named symptoms are likely to be present in any one case. Thousands of cases annually, without manifesting half of the above symptoms, result in consumption, and end in the grave. No disease is so common, more deceptive and dangerous, or less understood by physicians.

By its mild, soothing and healing properties, Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy cures the worst cases of Catarrh, "Cold in the head," Coryza, and Catarrhal Headache.

Sold by druggists everywhere; 50 cents.

"Untold Agony from Catarrh."

Prof. W. HAUSNER, the famous mesmerist, of Ithaca, N. Y., writes: "Some few years ago I suffered untold agony from chronic nasal catarrh. My family physician gave me up as incurable, and said I must die. My case was such a bad one, that every day, towards sundown, no one would become so hoarse I could barely speak above a whisper. In the morning my coughing and clearing of my throat would almost strangle me. By the use of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, in three months, I was a well man, and the cure has been permanent."

"Constantly Hawking and Spitting."

THOMAS J. BUSHING, Esq., 2nd Pine Street, St. Louis, Mo., writes: "I was a great sufferer from catarrh for three years. At times I could hardly breathe, and was constantly hawking and spitting, and for the last eight months could not breathe through the nostrils. I thought nothing could be done for me. Luckily, I was advised to try Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, and I am now a well man. I believe it to be the only sure remedy for catarrh now manufactured, and one has only to give it a fair trial to experience astounding results and a permanent cure."

Three Bottles Cure Catarrh.

ELI ROBBINS, Ramsey P. O., Columbia Co., Pa., says. "My daughter had catarrh when she was five years old, very badly. I saw Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy advertised, and procured a bottle for her, and soon saw that it helped her; a third bottle effected a permanent cure. She is now eighteen years old and sound and hearty."

THERE'S MANY A SLIP

Of Gossip the Pencil Pusher Fails to Get in His Effort to Catch It All.

Railroad travel is light.

There will be several pay days next week.

W. A. Davis, formerly an engineer on the Pittsburg road, has gone to Alaska.

There are ninety-four men employed in the boiler shops of the Pittsburg works.

Charles Siebold, of the organ factory, is seriously ill at his home on DeWald street.

The Wabash is repairing its tracks in front of the shops of Rhinesmith & Simonson's.

The employes of the organ factory have gone to work again after having enjoyed a vacation for a week.

Charles Hassler, a fireman on the Grand Rapids road, is detained from duty on account of a sprained ankle.

A large number of employes of the different manufacturing establishments of the city attended the K. of L. ball last night.

The Edison electric light will be put in all the departments of the Pittsburg shops. The Ball light did not give satisfaction.

Warren Eagle, one of the members of Nickel Plate bridge gang, cut a deep gash in his leg with an ax a day or two ago and is kept from duty in consequence of it.

The coal traffic on the railroads passing through this city is not as large as it was a few weeks ago. The blockade in Pennsylvania has affected the business in coal all over the country.

Louis Williams, general superintendent of the Nickel Plate railroad, passed through yesterday on his way to Chicago. He was accompanied to that city by Superintendent C. D. Gorham.

The engine wrecked at Wannatah, on the Pittsburg road, on last Saturday night, was received at the Pittsburg shops yesterday and will undergo a general overhauling. It was pretty badly wrecked.

Julius Kaough, who died last night, was one of the most popular machinists in the Pittsburg works and in our rounds among the employes this morning there was many a word of sorrow at his death expressed.

The Lake Shore and Michigan Southern railway company, inaugurated the duplex system of cash fare payment on its entire passenger train service, January 1. The heads of several of the oldest passenger conductors on the road dropped into the basket quite recently.

Harry Clay, one of the oldest employes of the Base foundry moulding rooms, is lying very low at his home on Hanna street street, with inflammation of the lungs. He has been in the employe of the works for the last twenty years and has a large number of friends who are solicitous concerning his condition.

A wreck occurred on the Pittsburg road last night at Washington, a station 100 miles east of this city. Two gondola cars were derailed and considerably damaged, but no one was injured. The wreck blockaded the track and delayed all the trains for several hours. Passenger No. 3, going west, was seven hours late and did not get into this city until 8 o'clock and other west-bound passenger trains were also late.

General Manager McCrea, of the Pennsylvania lines, has issued his orders as to what is to be done this year in adding equipments to the lines. One hundred and nine new locomotives are to be built, fifty-four for the southwestern lines, which includes those centering at Indianapolis, and fifty-five for the northwest lines. Those for the southwestern lines consists of fourteen class "O," thirteen class "M" and twenty-five class "S." Class "S" is the consolidated standard freight engine.

Some of the railroads of the country refuse to allow newspaper reporters to enter their offices, and what news they get from them has to come through the ticket window entirely and from a gruff official who feels the dignity and importance of his position. We are glad to say this is not the fact with the railroads centering in this city. The passenger agents of our railroads are gentlemen, who are courteous to the public generally, and they are always willing to grant favors when it is in their power to do so.

A tramp was discovered in the core shops of the Base foundry last night, with a large bundle of freshly washed clothing, which he had evidently stolen from somebody's yard. The boys tackled the fellow and began to question him concerning where he had obtained the clothing. He gave all sorts of explanations, and when they talked about calling in the police to investigate the affair, the fellow lit out in a hurry. The bundle contained a quantity of linen and child's clothing, and if some person's yard was robbed of such articles as these last night, they can obtain further information from Diedrich Brandt, the foreman of the coremakers at the Base foundry.

One Fact

Is worth a column of rhetoric, said an American statesman. It is a fact, established by the testimony of thousands of people, that Hood's Sarsaparilla does cure scrofula, salt rheum and other diseases or affections arising from impure state or low condition of the blood. It also overcomes that tired feeling, creates a good appetite, and gives strength to every part of the system. Try it.

Wholesale Slaughter of Deer.

Idaho newspapers are calling attention to the fact that the Lemhi Indians are slaughtering deer by wholesale, just for their hides. They form a circle covering miles of country and drive the deer toward a common center, generally a deep ravine, and do their work so thoroughly that almost every animal started within the outer circle is killed. The authorities are asked to put a stop to this slaughter.—Chicago News.

"VOLTAIRE."

A Masterly and Eloquent Address by the Very Rev. T. E. Walsh, President of Notre Dame University.

There was a very fair audience at Library hall last night to listen to the address of President T. E. Walsh, of Notre Dame university, on "Voltaire," the French infidel.

Chancellor J. F. Lang introduced the speaker in a very graceful way and with a word about the futile attempt to honor "Voltaire" with a centennial celebration, he handled his subject with a will.

Francois-Marie Arouet, which was Voltaire's true name, but which he changed in after life because it was too plebian, was born at Chatenoy on the 20th of February 1694. His father was a notary and afterwards treasurer of the chamber of arcounts, and his mother was of a noble family of Poiton. He was sent at an early age to the Jesuit college of Louis le Grand, in Paris, and even in his college days manifested a spirit of irreligion and disobedience to authority which made one of his professors predict that he would one day become an infidel. Another of his teachers remarked of him that he was a "bright boy, but a notable blackguard."

After leaving college he embraced, at his father's request, the profession of law, but soon quitted it for the more congenial career of literature. Through the influence of Ninon de L'Enclos, one of the most noted women of her day, he was introduced to the best and most polished society of Paris. It was in the wicked, gay and witty circles in which he then moved that he formed those ideas which made him afterwards the sensualist, skeptic and debased writer which he was. His father becoming alarmed at the extravagances and dissolute life of his son had him sent to Holland in an official capacity, but his excesses and intrigues there resulted in his recall very shortly after.

Being suspected of having written a very bitter and satirical poem on Louis XIV, who had just died, he was sentenced to imprisonment in the Bastile, May 17, 1717, where he remained for more than a year. It was during his imprisonment that he wrote his most celebrated poems, the "Henriade and Œdipus." In 1726 he was banished from his country because of an insult to the Count de Rohan, and he went to England, and it was during his stay there that he imbibed those doctrines which made him distinguished afterwards as an arch infidel and skeptic. It was in the society of Lord Bolingbroke, Collins, Wollostin and others that his mind became so thoroughly imbued with atheistic and infidel doctrines. After spending several years in England he again returned to Paris, and through the friendship of Madame du Chatelet was soon the center of an admiring and gay circle of friends. After many years spent in France, devoted to his voluminous writings and correspondence, he retired in 1758 to Ferney in Switzerland, where he spent the last twenty years of his life. In 1778 he made his last visit to Paris and was received with the greatest enthusiasm by the people and princes. He died the same year and his last moments were filled with agony, despair and horrible execrations against God, whom he had so persistently mocked, ridiculed and defied during his long life. After reviewing the life of Voltaire the lecturer proceeded to consider his claims as a man. As a writer, that which dazzles has been called the universality of his genius. He was unusually strong in almost every style of composition, and yet serious defects are to be found in nearly all his writings. He had no skill in building up. His art was destruction. As an epic poet he is not the equal of Homer, Dante or Milton, but he is more nearly so than any other French writer. As a dramatic writer he was successful, and yet, strangely, he could never appreciate Shakespeare. He could not understand why Addison's "Cato" should not have ranked higher in England than anything that Shakespeare wrote. As a writer of comedy and lyric poetry he was an entire failure. He was the most remarkable prose writer of his age both as to quantity and quality. There is no French prose like his. In his private life he was violent and vindictive—a perjurer and a hypocrite. He was without morality, patriotism or religion. Repeatedly he swore before God, that he was not the author of works that had come from his pen. He was a man of astonishing quickness, versatility and talent. He might, under some circumstance be generous. But his filthy sensuality, his profligacy and his unreasoning hatred of everything that can be considered sacred, will ever render him odious to intelligent men. It is not probable that his influence over his contemporaries was as great as has been supposed by some. It is not given to any man to mold his fellowmen as potter's clay. There are always surrounding circumstances that push or restrict the labors of men. There is no great reform—no revolution—that can be conceived as occuring before the time when the world was prepared for it by the providential or forseordained events that preceded and surrounded them.

No home should be without it to arrest disorders promptly, which, if not taken in season often develop into serious diseases. Rev. James M. Rollins, pastor M. E. church, S., Fairfield, Va., writes: "I have used Simmons Liver Regulator for many years, having made it my only family medicine. My mother before me was very partial to it. It is a safe, good and reliable medicine for any disorder of the system and if used in time is a great preventive of sickness."

The Babies Cry for It

And the old folks laugh when they find that the pleasant California liquid fruit remedy, Syrup of Figs, is more easily taken and more beneficial in its action than bitter, nauseous medicines. It strengthens the liver, kidneys, stomach, and bowels, while it arouses them to a healthy activity. For sale by Thieme & Gross.

a man for groaning when he has Rheumatism or Neuralgia. The pain is simply awful. No torture in the ancient times was more painful than these twin diseases. But—couldn't a man to be blamed if, having Rheumatism or Neuralgia, he wont use Ath-lo-pho-ros, when it has cured thousands who have suffered in the same way. It has cured hundreds after physicians have pronounced them incurable.

"The skill of five physicians could not cure me of Rheumatism which had settled in the hips, neck and shoulders. So intense was the pain that sleep was almost impossible. The first dose of Athlophoros gave me relief, and the third enabled me to sleep for four and a half hours without waking. I commend its use, and am now well. Rev. S. H. TROYER, New Albany, Ind."
